AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. Timothy Murphy in his great success, "A Capitol Comedy," will be the attraction at the Grand on Thursday night. As the title emphasizes, this is a play of a light and amusing vein, and deals with Washington life. The author, like actor, is a resident of Washington, and they both know the curious, interesting and characteristic of our wonderful National city. "A Capitol Comedy" is not a dramatization of a novel. It is not written because some book of its name has sold well and suggested profitable speculation. The play was written because there was a story to tell, an interesting complication of circumstances which weave a quaint and amusing man into its meshes. The character of Joel Gay in the story suggested the rare combination of control of laughter and tears, which only Mr. Murphy seems to possess. He at once fell in love with the role, and secured it for his use. Mr. Murphy asked that the character of Joel Gay be not fitted to him. He preferred that the story develop naturally without regard to a personality. When "A Capitol Comedy" was finished he threw himself into the part, and as an artist should, consulted the nature of the character instead of asking that his own points be considered. The poetic justice of this praiseworthy point of view is that Joel Gay is the greatest achievement of Mr. Murphy's career, and the play has been praised as one of the finest American plays of the period. Mr. Murphy is surrounded by his original company of more than 20 players, and the original production.

Rural Routes.

There are on file in the Postoffice Department two petitions praying for the establishment of service in this county.

A special agent will arrive soon to establish routes and to select carriers.

Applicants must reside directly on or within the territory to be supplied by the proposed route.

Each applicant must be prepared to furnish a suitable horse and cart or wagon for use of the service.

Applications of persons under seventeen, or over fifty-five years of age, will not be received, except in the case of honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the Civil War or Spanish War, who are physically able to perform the service.

Applications of badly crippled or deformed persons will not be considered.

Applications of women will be received, but a woman will not be recommended for appointment to the position of regular carrier unless in the judgment of the Special Agent, who will conduct the examination, local conditions and circumstances are such as to make the recommendation desirable and for the best interest of the service.

Many persons who are wedded to their art have good cause for legal action on the ground of non-support.

OH! OH!!

The Plum Lick Oil and Mining Co. surely have oil now. The management of the company are positive they will soon have it in large quantities. We are informed an oil expert was here Saturday. He tested a sample of the oil, and pronounced it a high grade of lubricating oil, worth several dollars per barrel.

The writer has no doubt of its being a high grade lubricating oil, as farmers around Little Rock, North Middletown and Plum Lick have used this oil on farm machinery and wagons, and say it is superior to anything they could buy from the store. Operations have been suspended on account of the weather, but will be resumed again as soon as the weather will permit. We are informed quite a number of shares of stock was sold on Saturday and yesterday.

Clerk's Wise Suggestion.

"I have lately been much troubled with dyspepsia, belching and sour stomach," writes M. S. Mead, leading pharmacist of Attleboro, Mass. "I could eat hardly anything without suffering many hours. My clerk suggested I try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure which I did with most happy results. I have had no more trouble and when one can go to eating mince pie, cheese, candy and nuts after such a time, their digestion must be pretty good. I endorse Kodol Dyspepsia Cure heartily." You don't have to diet. Eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests your food.—W. T. Brooks.
